✓ A description of the motion picture
IOWA UNDER FIRE for the Register of Copyrights,
Washington, D.C. to accompany blank No. M2.

This is an eight reel scenic picture giving the story of the Iowa troops in the World War.

The story opens with the training of these troops at Camps here in the United States, follows them aboard the transports, conducts them through the submarine area to the several landing ports in France and England.

They are shown at work in the Service of Supplies and in the 10th Training Area. This is followed by battle action in the following sectors: Alsace, Chatteau Thierry, Junigny and the Meuse Argonne.

Along with the battle scenes their activities in the rest areas and drilling sectors are also shown.

Following the close of the Meuse Argonne battle and the Armistice, movements of the Iowa troops into Germany are depicted with the final review held in Germany and the sailing from France for the U.S.A.
